foreword

Sandprints '68

a record of the year the new things and the old the goals, the successes the failures
most of all, the attempts the games, the rising spirit the new students, the new size the shiny trailers, the muddy walks the new cafeteria, the modern decor the new classrooms, the new look the new faculty, the new theories the new principal, the new methods the paved parking, the jacket stickers the traffic, the confusion the jokes, the jokers

the improved organizations the higher ideals
the increased importance the increased responsibility the new awareness
the new spirit
the new Central
the new year

1968, the year of change.

dedication

a teacher
with her students
communication
an organizer
encouraging seniors every year into graduation
her dedication
her cheerful personality her friendship
all are important to our school and to us in appreciation
we dedicate this book to her to Mrs. Janet Tate

epilogue

the year is ended
the memories stored
the lessons learned
the theories tried
the seniors graduated
the classes risen
the record closed

the change has begun tomorrow, let it continue.
